

Reeve's Writing - April 2026

The slow snow melt is creating havoc with our roads - no surprise! Just a reminder to heavy haul operators, please respect the road bans that are currently on! Thanks everyone, for your patience as our crews work to get the roads in shape after all this snow! They are doing their best to prioritize needs and efficiency.

Water Security has informed us that the spring run-off for our area will be above normal. If you have concerns about flooding, please do not hesitate to advise the office. We are well positioned to work with both SPSA (Saskatchewan Public Safety Agency) and Water Security if there is an imminent flooding risk or if there is a flooding emergency.

It has been an informative four weeks since my last writing!

- The Buckland Fire Department Fire Chief, Paul See, gave me a tour of the Fire Hall and equipment. They have recently completed a long range strategic plan, which positions them to serve us with great expertise.
- I attended the three-day SARM Annual Convention and met with Reeves from eight surrounding rural municipalities.
- I also met with Prince Albert Mayor, Bill Powalinsky, and discussed several shared concerns.
- I was one of the local Reeves invited to meet with the Minister of Government Relations and Immigration and Career Training, Hon. Eric Schmaltz, after the Budget presentation in Regina. We discussed the Marshall's Service, as well as services provided by cities such as hospitals and recreation.

All of this has provided a broad base to consider as we move into Strategic Planning later this year.
